

Abstract

A system for reducing power consumption in a portable electronic device comprises a master device coupled to a slave device via a serial interface. The slave device is configurable by the master device to operate in multiple modes wherein each mode is associated with a command length that differs between modes.